The NBC sitcom is one of the most hilarious TV shows in modern day history. Throughout its seven seasons, Parks and Rec aired three deliciously delightful, Galentine's Day episodes. If you're looking for some fun self-care or a girlfriends activity this Valentine's Day, here's a lovely guide of all of Parks and Recreation's Galentine's Day episodes. What is Galentine's Day? Back in 2010, during Season 2 of Parks and Recreation — Galentine's Day was born. The holiday is celebrated on February 13th each year and its when women come together to celebrate the platonic friendships in their lives, typically over a waffle-filled brunch. As Amy Poehler's Leslie Knope described it, "Every February 13th, my lady friends and I leave our husbands and our boyfriends at home, and we just come and kick it, breakfast-style. Ladies celebrating ladies. It's like Lilith Fair, minus the angst. Plus frittatas." Parks and Recreation Galentine's Day episode guide This Galentine's Day, cuddle up with your besties and your home girls and watch Leslie, Donna, April, and Ann celebrate the power of womanhood and friendship over a spread of sugar-filled treats and adorable gifts. Season 2: "Galentine's Day" Parks and Recreation Season 2, Episode 16 marks the television series' first-ever Galentine's Day episode. Leslie shares the special day with her co-workers, friends and her mother. Also, Leslie's mom Marlene Griggs-Knope (Pamela Reed), tells "the most romantic story ever" that makes "The Notebook look like Saw V." The Parks and Recs guys aren't entirely absent from the celebrations. The episode also has the Pawnee Valentine's Day dance which is as delightful as it sounds. Also, this is still one of the most-watched Parks episodes of all time, with 4.98 million viewers tuning it when it aired. Season 4: "Operation Ann" We all want our lady soul mates to find love which is what Leslie wants for her bestie Ann (Rashida Jones) in Season 4 of Parks and Rec. In this Galentine's Day episode, Leslie tries to make sure Ann has a date for Valentine's Day. Obviously, the entire episode is full of hilarity and foolishness, and Ann finds herself on an extremely awkward date with Tom (Aziz Ansari) who is obsessed with her. This is also the episode where Leslie declares that Galentine's Day should be a national holiday. Season 6: "Galentine's Day" The Season 6 episode of Galentine's Day is bittersweet. Ann has moved away, and Leslie is trying to figure out how to celebrate the holiday without her famous gal pal. In the episode, Leslie tries to find a replacement for Ann, but she quickly discovers that your best friend is irreplaceable. She also realizes that even without Ann, she has some pretty incredible gal pals in Pawnee. Galentine's Day is not just a celebration; it's also a statement. Romantic love is beautiful and lovely, but if you don't happen to have a companion or even any prospects at the moment, there are other ways to celebrate the different types of love you do have in your life. Check out The Cheat Sheet on Facebook! Four years into The Office's run, a very similar mockumentary sitcom hit TV called Parks and Recreation. Both shows were NBC creations and revolved around the workplace. The US version of The Office was created by Greg Daniels and produced/written by Mike Schur. Funny enough, both Daniels and Schur created Parks and Recreation. Parks and Rec. was originally supposed to be a spinoff to The Office. NBC had asked Daniels and Schur to create a spinoff but they thought Parks and Rec. would have done better on its own. And they were right. However, fans have noticed some unexplainable similarities between both shows. 10 Jerry Was Spotted In Scranton There's no way around this. In the background of this scene in The Office is—what appears to be—Jerry from Parks and Rec. Perhaps Jerry was visiting family in Scranton, or perhaps he and Gail were vacationing in the Poconos. Either way, that man looks an awful lot like Jerry, solidifying the two universes. 9 Did Karen Leave Scranton To Start A New Life In Pawnee? As fans of both series know, Rashida Jones has a role in both shows as Karen Filippelli and Ann Perkins. Because of her presence in both shows, fans have created compelling theories to connect the association between The Office and Parks and Rec. One fan's theory on Reddit stated "Karen testified against the Scranton Strangler and was forced to enter the Witness Protection Program. They sent her to a little-known town called Pawnee, Indiana." Since Karen left The Office in season three, the idea that she fled the state for another city to start over is unique. 8 Sabre Printers Spotted! In the eighth season of The Office, a company called Sabre bought Dunder Mifflin and added printers to their lineup. Sabre introduced us to Jo Bennett and Gabe who became fan favorites of the series. Over in Parks and Rec., there was evidence of The Office being in the same universe when Ben was using a Sabre printer! A fan on Reddit noticed the Sabre logo in the episode "Meet 'N' Greet." 7 Did Dwight Almost Adopt Champion!? When Andy and April became more serious, they adopted a three-legged dog in need and named him Champion. Before they gave birth to their own baby, Champion was their baby. He was a fun part of the show once Lil Sebastian passed on. Funny enough, in The Office episode "Fundraiser," Angela's husband threw a silent auction to benefit animal rights. In a plea to get his job back, Andy adopted all the dogs. And one of those dogs looks a whole lot like Champion from Parks and Rec. Could this mean Andy and April adopted Champion from Andy Bernard? 6 Robert California And Zorp In the 1970s, there was a cult in Pawnee called The Reasonabilists. The Reasonabilists god was a massive human-like lizard named Zorp. It was predicted that in years to come, Zorp would come back to Pawnee and essentially wipe out the town with his fire-breathing mouth. Ironically, over in Scranton, Robert California called himself the "Lizard King." Could this mean that Robert is part of The Reasonabilists and is considered their God? 5 Did Creed Steal Another Identity? Fans of The Office know Creed as Creed Bratton because that's the name he was introduced with. Years later, it's stated that the original Creed Bratton was dead and that "Creed" took his identity. If that's the case, this so-called Creed character could be anyone. Fans have theories about Creed actually being Lou Prozotovich from Parks and Rec. Lou used to be the leader of The Reasonabilists before he "died" in the '70s. But knowing that Creed has taken an identity in the past and has been apart of a cult before (both as a leader and a follower), this could mean Creed is actually Lou! 4 The Decemberists One of the smaller correlations between Parks and Recreation and The Office is the musical group The Decemberists. It's not very often a musical group is in the same universe as another show, which furthers the connection between the two. The Decemberists played live at Pawnee's Unity Concert in the sixth season of Parks and Recreation but they also showed up at Schrute Farms in the ninth season! 3 Are Ron Swanson & Dwight Schrute Cousins? If there's anyone that could be related between the cast of Parks and Rec. and The Office, it would be Ron Swanson and Dwight Schrute. Both men are outdoorsy, know the way of the land, and enjoy a weapon or two. Fans of both shows on Reddit think it's plausible that both men are cousins. Ron uses Schrute Farms as a getaway. Both men hunt and farm together before going back to work their "city" jobs. 2 Leslie Is The Female Version Of Michael Michael and Leslie are almost too much alike for their own good — especially in the beginning of Parks and Rec. As the series went on, Leslie became sharper, smarter, and more respected. Due to Michael's popularity on The Office, Leslie should have had a similar reception from Parks and Rec. fans but that wasn't the case. According to Cheat Sheet, fans found Leslie too "ditz" to be believable. However, with both of their personalities being so similar, what if Leslie was one of Michael's stepsisters that he's spoken about in the past? 1 The Chair Model & Miss Pawnee Are The Same! April Eden is the actress who portrayed the "chair model" in the episode of the same name. She had no speaking roles at all; in fact, she was just a picture of a woman posing on a chair. Michael fell in love with the chair model's beauty and did everything to find her. He later found out that his dreams of wooing her crashed and burned when he learned that she died in a car accident. Shockingly, Eden was also in Parks and Rec. as the winner of the Miss Pawnee pageant! Although both women had different names (Trish versus Deborah), what if Debroah got herself into trouble on the night of her car accident, so she fled to Pawnee to start a new life?
